Somebody's Darling.

Into a ward of the white-washed halls,
Where the dead and the dying lay, Wounded by bayonets, shells and balls, Somebody's Darling was borne one day—Somebody's Darling, so young and so brave, Wearing yet on his pale, sweet face,
Soon to be hid by the dust of the grave,
The lingering light of his boyhood's grace,

Matted and damp are the curls of gold Kissing the snow of that fair young brow; Pale are the lips of delicate mould—Somebody's Darling is dying now.
Back from his beautiful blue-veined brow Brush all the wandering waves of gold; Cross his hands on his bosom now, Somebody's Darling is still and cold.

Kiss him once for somebody's sake, Murmure a prayer soft and low;
One bright curl from its fair mates take,
They were somebody's pride, you know:
Somebody's hand hatn rested there,— Was it a mother's, soft and white?
And have the lips of a sister fair Been hushed in the waves of light?

God knows best! He has somebody's love; Somebody's heart enshrined him there; Somebody's weaned his name above, Night and morn on the wings of prayer, Somebody wept when he marched away, Looking so handsome, brave and grand;
Somebody's kiss on his forehead lay, Somebody clung to his parting hand.

Somebody's waiting and watching for him, Yearning to hold him again to their heart,
And there he lies with his blue eyes dim,
And the smiling, child-like lips apart.
Tenderly hush the fair young dead, Passing to drop on his grave a tear; Carve on the wooden slab at his head,
"Somebody's darling slumbers here."

The Oak of the Forest.

From oak of the forest! whose dark branches
Way
O'er the wild lonely paths of my weed-tangled way:
Proud oak of the forest! O hear me complain,
That the journey of life is a journey of pain.

Where the pilgrim of sadness his hard burden bears,
Where the fond child of sentiment hopes and de-pairs;
Where pleasures, succeeded full soon by disgust, Remind us that man is but heir of the dust!

Ah! would that like thee I might safely dory All the tempests that sweep o'er the world's fickle sky;
Ah! would that like thee I could calmly behold
The numerous whirlwind's terrors unfold.

For thou, with thy brethren, wilt flourish grow,
When this bosom is cold, and this head is laid low;
In the fresh glare of spring shall thy green honors wave.

When I shall be dust in the mouldering grave, Each summer that comes will thy foliage restore,
When I shall be withered to flourish no more;
But hold! there is hope, there is comfort for me, Mid the darkness of sorrow, rich dawns I see.

O world! where the weary shall endlessly rest,
No longer by power or fortune oppress;
O realm! where my spirit shall joyously soar, When the oak of the forest shall flourish no more!

SCRAPS OF SCIENCE.—One of the most wonderful achievements of astronomers is the weighing of the bodies comprising the solar system. The mass of the sun is 259, 551 times greater than that of the earth and moon, and 700 times greater than that the united masses of all the planets.

The circumference of the earth is 25,000 miles. A train traveling incessantly night and day, at the rate of 25 miles an hour, would require six weeks to go around it.
A tunnel through the earth from England to New Zealand, would be nearly 9,000 miles long.

The barking of dogs as an acquired hereditary instinct, supposed to have originated in an attempt to imitate the human voice. Wild dogs, and never bark but which have become wild, never bark but only howl. Cats, which so disturb the inhabitants of civilized countries by their midnight "caterwaul," are, in their wild state in South America, quite silent.

The Administration is opposed to involuntary servitude for the negroes in the South, but it has no hesitation in conscripting all the white men of the North for involuntary or forced service in the army.
Compulsion for the white, but no compulsion for the negro, is its motto.

A number of loyal men were discussing the fact of the Lord being on the side of the North in this war, when an old Saint remarked: "If the Lord is on our side I'll be d—d if it ain't time he was shooting 'his hand!"

The Position of the South.

It appears to us that sufficient importance has not been given to the announcement made by the Confederate Congress in their recent address to the world. The Abolition papers declare the South will listen to no terms that do not involve the complete recognition of the Southern Confederacy, but half a dozen of these journals published the address referred to? We believe not. And have even our own readers marked with care the following significant paragraph in that document? It says:

"FORBEAR AGGRESSION UPON US, AND THE WAR IS AT AN END. IF THERE BE QUESTIONS WHICH REQUIRE ADJUSTMENT BY NEGOTIA-TION, WE HAVE EVER BEEN WILLING, AND ARE STILL WILLING, TO ENTER INTO COM-MUNICATION WITH OUR ADVERSARIES IN A SPIRIT OF PEACE, OF EQUITY AND OF MANLY FRANKNESS. STRONG IN THE PERSECUTION OF THE JUSTICE OF OUR CAUSE, IN THE MANLY DEVOTION OF OUR CITIZEN SOLDIERS, AND OF THE WHOLE BODY OF OUR PEOPLE, AND, ABOVE ALL, IN THE GRACIOUS PROTECTION OF HEAVEN, WE ARE NOT AFRAID TO AVOW A SINCERE DESIRE FOR PEACE ON TERMS CONSISTENT WITH OUR HONOR AND THE PERMA-NENT SECURITY OF OUR RIGHTS."

No man with a particle of reason or fairness in his composition can refuse to comply with the above. The offer is frankly and manfully made, and even the most mistaken northern cannot for a moment suppose that it is the offering of fear or cowardice.
In the darkest days of the South they disdained to make such a proposition as the above, fearing that a wrong construction might be put upon it. But their condition is different now, and it becomes the North, if there be one particle of manliness among us, to meet the offer in the same spirit in which it is made. It is gratifying to know that even one Republican paper is disposed to speak of this Confederate address in respectable terms. The Boston Traveller, of a late date, says:

"Both sections of the country begin to see that in this rushing into war, they fail to obey the scriptural injunction to count the cost, and they each undertake a work which was beyond their power to accomplish."

"There is a manifest change in the opinions and feelings of the people both at the South and the North, as is evinced in conversation, in letters, in the press and in the spirit of public documents and political addresses. We look upon this as a decidedly favorable omen, and anticipate that our difficulties will be so far settled that hostilities will cease possibly before the first of January, and at the farthest before the commencement of the planting season next spring."

"The manifesto of the rebel Congress, which we publish to day, is a document much less arrogant and defiant than any thing which has yet come from that quarter, and though some may think it is dictated by mere policy, yet it must be remembered that if it is even so, they have never stooped to policy before. It is manifestly an overture for peace, on any terms except those of unconditional surrender and submission, which last can hardly be expected of any people or armies that have evinced so much valor and made so many sacrifices in war."

These words evince a sign of returning reason, and we trust such sentiments will spread.—Day Book.

Has it ever occurred to the laboring classes what would be the effect of abolitionism, upon their interests and status in society?
Once set free the negroes of the South, and of course our country would be flooded with immigration to the free States. They would naturally desire to be among their friends.
It would be here, they would conclude, they could most readily obtain protection and advancement. They would undoubtedly come in competition with the laboring white man —the American, Irish, and German citizen —the poor man. They would work for lower wages, and would therefore reduce the price of the white man's labor. Soon the poor white man, as a laborer, would be confounded with the negro, socially, morally and working men. The property holders would begin to speak of the free negro and poor white man as helps. Whether the working man ever lowers himself so much as to meet the negro on equal terms, makes but little difference practically. Just as soon as the black labor comes in competition with white, capital will place them on equality. Under the present policy of the party in power, a few years will place the poor in complete serfdom, and a comming-ling of the races will be the inevitable result—miscegenation a reality. Whether American citizens will tamely submit to tyranny and degradation, will be decided by next November.—The Constitution.

A Grab 500,000 Poor Men.
Republicans as well as Democrats, regard and speak of Lincoln's Draft Proclamation for 500,000 more, as a grab after poor men.
And they may well say so, for it is not expected, nor was it intended to catch the rich who, if drafted, can readily give $1,500 or $2,000 for a substitute, while the poor man, however good his character, or numerous his friends, has no chance of escape, Lincoln and his cabinet having influenced Congress to strike out the $300 commutation provision. If the substitute clause had also been done away, then the rich and poor would have been on an equal footing, and fared alike; but Lincoln & Co., don't want that. Their doctrine is that all the fighting should be done by the poor men, just as if the life of a poor man is not so sacred and valuable to himself, his father, mother children, brothers, sisters and friends, as the rich man's is to him and his!

It is an old proverb that 'boys will be boys.' What a pity isn't equally true that men will be men.

The Execution at Henderson.

Some time since Gen. Burbridge, commanding the district, issued an order that for every Union citizen shot by guerrillas two of the rebel prisoners in our hands should be put to death. The killing of Pooles is too fresh in the minds of our readers to need repetition here. Jno. P. Powell and William Thompson, belonging to the rebel army, were selected and sent to Henderson to be shot in retaliation for the killing of Pooles. These men have only been about six weeks in the rebel service and are from Daviess county, Ky. They are young men, Powell, about 23 and Thompson between 18 and 20 of age. These men were publicly executed at Henderson on Friday morning in obedience to the order of Gen. Burbridge. We have been unable to learn any of the details of the execution.

Saturday the commander of the rebel forces sent the following order to the citizens of Henderson:

HEADQUARTERS SYMPERT AND SOYER'S CONFEDERATE REGIMENT, JULY 23d.
To the Citizens of Henderson.

On yesterday to Confederate soldiers were shot to death in the streets of your city.— They died instantly. They condemned their entire command condemned, as earnestly as any citizen of Kentucky, the wounding of Mr. James B. Rankin and the plundering in your city. But they are gone, and their murder is another crime added to the damnable catalogue of the despotism that rules you. We are Confederate soldiers.— We fight for the liberties of our brethren and we have not made, nor will we make, war upon citizens and women. Let not your people be excited by any further apprehension that we will disturb the peace of your community by the arrest of Union men, or any interference with them, unless they place themselves in the attitude of combatants. Such conduct would be cowardly and we scorn it. We are in arms to meet and battle with soldiers—not to tyrannize over citizens and frighten women and children. We move with our lives in our hands.
We are fighting not for booty, but for liberty; to disenthral our loved Southern land from the horrible despotism under which it has labored and suffered so much. We know our duty, and will do it as soldiers and men even if what are denominated "Southern sympathizers" be arrested by the tyrants that lord over you. We would scorn to retaliate by arresting Union men who had not complicity in the matter, but our retaliation will be upon soldiers. Let not the non-combatants of your community be further excited by any fear that we will disturb them all Union men who may have left home on our account may safely return. In war soldiers should do the fighting.

The brave sons of our beloved land, so far have triumphantly resisted the cruel crusade of Northern vandals; and we trust in God that the "Dixie"—may soon stand forth before the world a reorganized Republic—the grave of patriots and home of freemen.

The Only Son.

CINCINNATI, July 23, 1864.
MESSRS. FARAN & McLEAN—Gentlemen: In your issue would you be so kind as to inform me whether or not that section in the conscription has been repealed exempting the only son of a widow depending solely upon him for support? Or when a widow has two sons and one of them is in the service, does that exempt the remaining one?
By throwing the necessary light on this subject you will greatly oblige.

A SUBSCRIBER.
ANSWER.—The sections referred to by "A Subscriber" has been repealed. Under the new law there is no exemption for "the Only Son;" nor for the son at home, when a widow has but two, and one of them is in the army. The new conscription law looks to the "last man," though he is the only support of a widowed mother, or of dependent brothers and sisters.

George WILKES, the editor of the New York Spirit of the Times is out for Fremont, and heartily endorses his nomination. The abolitionists, between their two candidates, Abe, and John C., are beautifully splitting in two. It is so far a neck and neck race.
The shoddyties, contractors, speculators and government thieves have declared for Old Abe, while the prize fighters, horse racers, cock fighters and "fancy" generally have declared for Fremont. Go it boots.

WOMAN'S LAUGH.—A woman has no natural grace more bewitching than a sweet laugh. It leaps from her heart in a clear, sparkling rill; and the hearts that hear it feel as if bathed in the exhilarating spring.
Have you ever pursued an unseen fugitive now here, now lost, now found? We have.
And we are pursuing that wandering voice to this day. Sometimes it comes to us in the midst of care, or sorrow, or irksome business; and then we turn away and listen, and hear it ringing through the room like a silver bell, with power to scare away the ill spirits of the mind. How much we owe to that sweet laugh! It turns the prose of our life into poetry; it flings showers of sunshine over the darkest wood in which we are travelling; it touches with light even our sleep, which is no more the image of death, but is consumed with dreams that are the shadows of mortality.

"Much complaint is made in St. Louis of the alarming licentiousness of the military men who remain in that city."—Loyal Ex.

There seems to be a general prevalence of the same evil in all parts of the country since the inauguration of the party who at Chicago resolved that they would "restore the Government to the purity of the Fathers." It is particularly complained of at Washington, where Senators, Congressmen and high officials are said to set bad examples, and where, according to the official newspaper, there are from 15,000 to 20, 000 prostitutes.

From the Bangor (Me.) Democrat.

Stealing the Statue of Washington.
During the late raid of General Hunter in the Virginia Valley, the bronze statue of Washington, erected in 1788, the first ever cast of the Father of his Country, was stolen from Lexington, and in a broken form was transported to Wheeling. The tablet was broken in three pieces. It bore the inscription:

"The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Virginia have caused this statue to be erected as a monument of affection and gratitude to George Washington, who, uniting to the endowments of the hero the virtues of the patriot, and uniting both in establishing the liberties of his country, has endowed his name to his fellow-citizens, and given to the world an immortal example of true glory." Done in the year of Christ 1778, and in the year of the Commonwealth the 12th."

The Emperor Napoleon, in his war against a foreign enemy, received the censure of all historians for enriching France with works of art, taken from the palaces and the cities he had conquered; but Napoleon never removed a statue erected by a grateful people to any of their illustrious dead. That act of utter infamy is reserved for an American general in this the noon time of the nineteenth century. The State of Virginia had erected this statue to her own son, whom she gave to the Revolution which gave birth to the Republic. She had selected the spot for its erection where her State Military Academy was placed, to the end that her sons might draw inspiration from his wisdom and patriotism from his virtues. The Military Academy was given to the torch and was burned to the ground.
The statue of Washington was taken from its pedestal and feloniously carried away, as no doubt would have been his bones had they been buried there. This was done by the command of an officer hearing a commission in the service of the Republic Washington had formed. Although the statue was erected by the commonwealth, which gave Washington birth, and which he so loved, to perpetuate her pride in her noblest son, in whose bosom his ashes slept, yet she gladly hailed him as the Father of his Country, and the people of every State in the Confederacy called him by that proud title. The stealing of the statue was an act of vandalism without earthly excuse.
It is a theft that nothing can palliate—disgraceful to the age, and doubly so to the country which will suffer such a sacrilege to go unwhipped of justice. It will give the author of the theft a name, and it will, in history, associate itself with Washington, but, like that of the youth who, for the sake of an infamous immortality, fired the Ephesian Temple, it is such a fame that good men would shrink from enjoying. In the world's history it is without a parallel, and our hope is that it may remain so.

Some have the folly to be ridiculous; some have the vanity to be ridiculous;
some have the imprudence to be ridiculous;
very few have the courage to be ridiculous.

What is most appropriate to a doctor's house? Blue-pill-ars in front.
The highest market rates now are the Confed-rates.

We learn from the Evansville Times that matters at Henderson Saturday wore a more gloomy aspect than at any previous time. Colonel Sympert, commander of the rebel forces, came into town under a flag of truce for the purpose of convincing the Federal officers that he and his command, as also Powell and Thompson, sentenced to be shot as bushwhackers, were not guerrillas, but regular Confederate soldiers and officers heaving a commission from the rebel authorities.

The defeat of Butler, as is well said by a radical paper, is always a great disaster.
Certainly, for it falls upon some unoffending department of civilians, women and children, out of whom he takes revenge.

THE LITTLE ONES.—Do you every think how much work a child does in a day?
How from sunrise to sunset the dear little feet patter around, to us, so aimlessly.
Climbing up here, and kneeling down there running to another place, but never still.
Twisting and turning, rolling, reaching, and doubling, as if testing every bone and muscle for future uses. It is very curious to watch it. One who does may understand the deep breathing of the rosy little sleeper, as with one arm tossed over its little curly head, it prepares for the next day's gymnastics. Tireless through the day till that time comes, as the maternal love that so patiently accommodates itself, hour after hour, to its thousand wants and caprices, real or fancied.

After a war of 64 years' duration, Russia with a population of 74,000,000, has at last subjugated Circassia, with a population of 400,000. If it takes 75,000,000 Russians 64 years to subjugate 400,000 Circassians, how long will it take 20,000,000 Americans to subjugate 8,000,000 Americans?

The people of the North have to be coerced into the army in order to coerce the people of the South back into the Union. It is doubtful whether the Northern people like the coercion any better than the Southern.

A conscript being told that it was sweet to die for his country, tried to excuse himself on the ground that he never did like sweet things.

Miss Apley hung herself to a bed-post at South Woodstock, Conn., a few days since.
Her father so did just two years ago.

Write your name by kindness, love and mercy on the hearts of the people you come in contact with from year to year and you will never be forgotten.

It is stated that when the British soldiers were about to lay down their arms at Yorktown, Washington said to the Americans a-conquered lot! When there lay down their arms, don't huzza for you!"

A PRACTICAL SOLDIER.—A Christian Commission brother was congratulating a wounded man upon the fact that he owed the salvation of his life to a pocket Testament, which happily intervened between a rebel bullet and his short ribs. He promised to give the soldier another Testament, and hoped it would be instrumental in saving not only his life but his soul. His remarks were overheard by a New Yorker, who was suffering from a slight but smarting wound to the side, and expressed himself as follows:—"Look here, partner, if it had not been for a suchre deck, I don't know where I'd have been. It didn't hurt me much, but it knocked the ace of spades and king of hearts higher than a kite. Can't you get a feller a new pack?"

MORNING HOURS.—In the Summer time, no hours are so fresh and full of heaven as these. They are the firstborn of the day.
They come direct from the open gates of the blazing East. The dew that bespangles the carpet on which they walked, is not more fresh and reviving than themselves. Daniel Webster never wrote a more impressively beautiful letter than that which he once penned to his daughter, at his window overlooking the Potomac, in the calm and clearness of the dawn. It lingers in the memory like an acted poem. Literary persons are wont to make the most of those hours, for they are the cream of the rest to be skimmed off very diligently before the body of the day has been sullied by the cares and confusion that follow. Nature offers not many such precious gifts as these; her moonlight sessions, beautiful as they are, nothing in comparison.

A NOBLE SENTIMENT.—Some true heart gives expression to its generous nature in the following beautiful sentiment:

"Never desert a friend when enemies gather around him—when sickness falls on the heart—when the world is dark and cheerless is the time to try a true friend.— They who turn from the scene of distress, betray their hypocrisy, and proves that interest moves them. If you have a friend who loves you and studies your interest and happiness, be sure to sustain him in adversity. Let him feel that his former kindness is appreciated and that his love is not thrown away. Real fidelity may be rare; but it exists in the heart. Who has not seen and felt the power? They deny its worth who never loved a friend or labored to make a friend happy."

Lieutenant General John B. Hood, the successor of Joe Johnston, is a native of Bath county, Kentucky, and graduated at West Point in 1842, though without special marks of honor. On his graduation he was assigned as brevet Second Lieutenant to the Fourth Infantry. In 1855 he was transferred to the Second cavalry with a detachment of which he had a gallant conflict with a body of Comanche and Lipan Indians near the head of the San Pedro river, Texas, in July, 1857. In this affair he was wounded.
The next year he was promoted to be First Lieutenant. Hereafter his commission in April, 1861, and was appointed a Brigadier General in the Southern army. For a long time he served in Lee's army, and, on being promoted Major General, was assigned to command the Third division of Longstreet's corps.

Lady Worly Montague, the famous wit and beauty, made the most sarcastic observation that was ever published about her own sex. "It goes far," said my lady, "to reconcile me to being a woman, when I reflect that I am thus in no danger of ever marrying none!" What if a man had said that? But see how another lady, the unhappy Countess of Landsfeld, inverted the sentiment and turned the satire into the most delicate and generous of compliments.
"I never behold a beautiful woman," said Lola Montez, one of her lectures, "but I fall in love with her myself, and wish I were a man that I might marry her!"

THE TIME FOR SLEEP AND STUDY.—By all means sleep enough, and give all in your care sleep enough, by requiring them to bed at some regular hour, and to get up at the moment of spontaneous waking in the morning. Never waken up any one, especially children, from a sound sleep, unless there is urgent necessity; it is cruel to do so.
To prove this, we have only to notice how fretful and unhappy a child is, when waked up before its nap is out. If the brain is nourished during sleep, it must have most vigor in the morning; hence the morning is the best time for study—for then the brain has most strength, most activity, and most work more clearly. It is "the midnight lamp" which floods the world with sickly sentimentalities, with false morals, with sticky theology, and with all those hum-scurry dreams of human elevation which abnegate Bible teachings.—Hall's Jour. of Health.

For intimating that Hunter's 'capture' of Washington's Statue was an act in the nature of petit larceny upon a grave yard, that General had two newspapers suppressed in Western Virginia, and their editors placed in the filthiest dungeons in the State.— Done in the year of our Lord A. D. 1864;
and of the Independence of the United States the 89th.

THEIR ROBIN.—A correspondent of the Circular, Oneida, N. Y., says:

Yesterday some of our boys, in high glee brought into my room an astounding conglomeration of sticks, straws, mud and—ladies' collars! This I soon made out to be a robin's nest. The collars—light strips of lace, crochet work and plain linen—were woven into the body of the nest into all sorts of tangles, and hung around it like beggar's streamers. Our young ladies and some of the older ones have missed their collars lately at a wonderful rate, and were beginning to think that thieves were about.
And behold an industrious robin had built her house of them! The boys saw the robin carrying one off from the grass-plot where they were drying, followed her and saw twenty-nine of the missing collars woven into one nest.

NATURE.—If we cast a glance at the immense quantity of plants and animals which live on the face of the earth, we are at first struck with the variety of forms under which they present themselves; with their colors so diversified, and sometimes brilliant, and with the colossal proportions of some as compared with the diminutiveness of others.
When, however, we study them more carefully, we at once see the perfection which exists in the organs of both plants and animals, and how well they are adapted to their habits and modes of life, from the enormous whale, which requires an ocean to swim in, to those minute and myriad forms which the microscope reveals, and which find ample room for all their evolutions in a single drop of its waters; from the lofty tree which ramifies in the earth and atmosphere, and has stood for centuries the pride and ornament of the landscape, to the lowly moss which clings to its bark, or the beautiful and sweet-scented wild flower growing beneath its shade. We also soon see abundant reason for believing that the differences amongst the organic productions of nature are not so great as we at first surmised: we trace, by almost imperceptible gradations, the mineral into the plant, and animal life becomes, as it were gradually developed in the vegetable, or rather both become blended together in the same organic being.

'WANTED.—Expert Needlewomen to make babies' bodices.' "Well, that beats all!" exclaimed Mrs. Partington, throwing down the newspaper in which during the last fifteen minutes, she had been spelling out the advertisements, and peering indignantly over her spectacles across the breakfast table at like, who was busily excavating his fourth egg shell. "Did anybody ever hear the like! I always said it was as good as telling Natur' he didn't know how to do her own work when they instructed them steamers and donkey engines. But this impetuous idea of making slop work babies is enough to make the poor thing shut up shop altogether! Mark my words like—them sewin' machines will be pressed into this new fangled business before long; and then all the emigration in the world won't be able to keep down the surplus population."

THE SPIRIT OF LOVE.—Beyond all question, it is the unspeakable constitution of nature that there is efficacy in love. The exhibition of kindness has the power to bring even the irrational animals into subjection. Show kindness to a dog, and you can lead him by the mane; you can change the ferocity of his heart into an affection stronger than death. In all of God's vast unbounded creation, there is not a living and sentient being, from the least to the largest, not one, not even the outcast and degraded serpent, that is insensible to acts of kindness. If love, such as our blessed Saviour manifested, could be introduced into the world, and exert its appropriate dominion it would restore a state of things far brighter than the fabulous age of gold; it would annihilate every sting; it would pluck every poisonous tooth, it would hush every discordant voice. Even the inabstinate creation is not insensible to this divine influence. The bud and flower and fruit put

THE BULLETIN.

MAYSVILLE, JULY 4 1894

Increase of the Price of the Bulletin.
The Subscription price of the BULLETIN will hereafter be ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS per year, instead of ONE DOLLAR.

☞ We learn that Adjutant Joe Dudley of the Sixteenth Kentucky, was killed by a tree falling on him in Fulton county, Ga. Major White made a narrow escape at the same time.

☞ Prayers for rain are offered in the Connecticut churches. This accounts for the drought.

Forty citizens of Dayville, Massachusetts spent one Sunday in mowing and husbanding the hay on the fields of a poor woman with six children, whose soldier husband is dying far away.

☞ It is confidently believed that Governor Brough will give the Secretary of War permission to keep the 'National Guards' as long as he pleases.

☞ We learn that every photograph taken must hereafter have on it an Internal Revenue stamp.

GUERRILLAS IN SHELBY COUNTY.—We yesterday conversed with several persons from Shelby county, who state that certain proportions of that county are overrun with guerrillas. One gentleman from Shelbyville reported that a force of twenty were within a few miles of Shelbyville when he left, and that it was feared they would enter the place.—Louisville Democrat.

☞ The Wheat Crop of Mr. J. S. CHENOWETH, was destroyed by fire on last Saturday night—supposed to be the work of an incendiary. It will be remembered that his Barn, one of the finest in the State, was set on fire and destroyed about a year ago.

THE ELECTION.—The election passed off quietly. H. S. JEFFERSON was re-elected Sheriff by a large majority, and JOHN L. GRANT was elected Jailor. We are not able to give the Official Vote, as the officers will not meet to count the votes until some time to-day.

☞ The rebel General Shelby has made a capture of part of the Tenth Illinois, 250 strong, in Arkansas.

☞ The quota of New York under the last call for 500,000 men, is said to be 89,818 men.

Governor Andrew, of Massachusetts, is at loggerheads with the Government concerning hundred day troops.

A TERRIFIC SWARM OF LOCUSTS.—The Monitor Algerian publishes the following letter from Dalmatia, in Algeria, containing an account of an invasion of locusts by which certain districts of the colony are now infested.

In this village the crop-devouring plague fell on us for ten consecutive days. During the first two the insects did little harm but on the third they arrived in such large quantities that all the fields were literally covered with them. The paling took place the moment the insects alighted, in certain places they lay to a thickness of five inches. Every means employed to drive them away proved without avail. The crops of cotton potatoes and maize were all destroyed.

☞ Utah is furnishing a supply of cotton for Brigham's cotton factory at Salt Lake City, and the News states that the reports from many quarters in the Territory are favorable to the growth of king cotton.—One man in Washington County is raising fifteen acres this season.

The Mormons will be able to lay up a large stock of grain this year for future famines. The Deseret News, of July 4th, says the crops look well, promising good harvests everywhere.

From the Nashville Times, 14th inst.
Interesting from the Front.
An officer from the front informs us that the rebels at the front have fallen back within their outer line of fortifications around Atlanta. They extend three miles beyond the city, and have been made very strong of late. There are twenty thousand militia within the entrenchments; everybody able to bear arms having been pressed into service. Johnson will probably give battle there. The rebels are moving all their supplies from Atlanta to Augusta, showing that they expect to retreat.

The Liverpool and London Insurance Company.

Our readers will remember the great fire that occurred in Louisville several weeks ago, by which several millions of dollars of property was destroyed. The Journal of Friday, July 15th, contains a card from six well known firms in that city, the most reliable in Louisville, and heavy sufferers by the fire, returning thanks to the Louisville agent of the Liverpool and London Insurance Company, for his promptness in adjusting their losses by the fire. The aggregate amount of their losses was $5,714, which was on that day paid in full, without any deduction for interest. Such conduct is indeed praiseworthy, and will afford gratification to the many persons who have their property insured with the Company. It has an immense capital, not fictitious but paid in, never fails to adjust its losses with the utmost promptness and fidelity, and with as little trouble as possible to policy holders. We take pleasure in recommending it to the public. Mr. SAMUEL C. PEARCE is the agent for Mayville, and those who are acquainted with his character as an attentive and trustworthy man of business will feel additional confidence in the Company of which he is the agent.

MULLINS & HUNT'S NEW WHOLESALE DRY GOODS STORE!

THE SUBSCRIBERS, LONG ESTABLISHED in a large retail Dry Goods business in Mayville, would call the attention of Country Merchants to their recent addition of an extensive Wholesale Department; which will be conducted on a STRICTLY CASH PRINCIPLE.

The many years of experience possessed by our buyer, combined with a perfect knowledge of the Kentucky trade, a thorough acquaintance with all the Manufacturing and Importing Houses in the East, and the fact of our purchases being made for "Cash," together with a firm determination to sell at a mere commission advance on Eastern Cost, will be sufficient guarantee to CLOSE CASH BUYERS that we cannot be undersold by any WESTERN JOBBING HOUSE.

Our Stock will be found better adapted to the wants of our customers than it is usual to find in the generality of JOBBING HOUSES; as it will embrace a greater variety of goods than is ordinarily met with in an exclusive Wholesale Establishment. The departments allotted to
HATS AND CAPS AND Notions,
Will be at all times especially attractive as particular attention will be paid to them, and a LARGE STOCK
Kept constantly on hand. We would impress upon our friends that in sending us orders they may rely upon having them executed to the fullest extent of our ability.

DAY LILIES.
BY HARRIET M'EWEN KIMBALL.
O summer day,
Delay! delay!
One waving of thy brooding wing,
One stirring of the lazy wing,
And nuptial light and heat,
Will find my dewy shadow fair,
And burn the coolness from the grasses That swathe my feet
In rank and billowy masses;
And to this clausal twilight bring The sun's profane glare.

O summer day,
Delay! delay!
Let nuptial bill and bare brown field Parish in thy torrid ray,
So this dim nook be unrevealed,
Where I,
Deliciously concealed,
Among the lilies lie.
The delicate day lily!
The white and wonderful lilies!
My dark heart so still is The wildest birdling dare not sing, Nor insect beat a gossamer wing, Nor zephyr lift the lightest thing-- Here, where the lustrous lilies,
The clear, resplendent lilies Pour out their heavenly-sweet perfume,
And with their snowiness,
In clusters chaste illumine This dark recess.

Soft footed silence, royal nun!
In this thy humid, emerald cell Forever dwell!
These flowers, these flowers, these flowers, Pure flames, before thy virgin shrine!
Hereone by one,
Tell of thy glistening, rural beads-- A rosy string on tangled weeds,
And blades and stems that intertwist,
The breath of lilies be thy prayers, Sweet-odored, wafted nwaives Up through the morning incense air,
And evening's pallid mist!
And glittering stars shall o'er thee pass, Deep-pillowed in the heavy grass; These broad smooth lily leaves shall be A glossy coverlet for thee;
The prayers and pance done,
O royal nun!
By day or night,
In dark or light,
Thy fragrant shrine shall be the same;
These slender tapers, lambent still,
Nor blazing sun, nor midday chill, Shall quench their alabaster flame.

A gleam, as of a crystal wand
And day peers in with curious face;
The jealous sunshine stealing round Doth wearily chase
The cool dank shadows on the ground.
The cloister walls no longer stand;
A garish glory fills the space,
And lights the lush grass, loose and long, While startled by the wild bird's song, Soft-footed silence flees apace;
But still serene the lilies shine Pure-flamed before her ruined shrine!

Mr. Camp, becoming enthusiastic, and holding out his brawny hand, cried out, exultingly:
"What does that look like?"
"That," interposed Mr. Ames, with a peculiar sniff of the nose--"that looks as though you were out of soap."

A country girl coming from the field, was told by her poetic cousin that she looked as fresh as a daisy kissed with dew. "Well, it wasn't any feller by that name, but it was Steve Jones that kissed me. I told him that every one in town would find it out!"

A precocious young man, blessed with the name of Isaac, says that if he is drafted, Abraham will be offering up Isaac as a sacrifice.

A railer against marriage thinks that the creation of woman was simply the change of a bone in a man's side to a thorn.

What is mind? No matter. What is matter? Never mind. What is the soul? It is immaterial.

There are young women who lay their heads upon the bosom of one lover to gaze and wink at another.

The very tears shed by humanity to-day may be in the golden clouds rainbows of tomorrow.

A friend of ours was traveling while afflicted with a very bad cough. He annoyed his fellow-travelers until one of them remarked, in a tone of displeasure: "Sir, that is a very bad cough of yours!" "True, sir," replied our friend, "but you will excuse me--'tis the best I've got!"

Diarrhoea
STRICKLAND'S
Anti-Cholera Mixture.
Is a composition of astringents, absorbents, stimulants and emetics, which every physician acknowledges is the only preparation that will effect a permanent cure of Diarrhoea and Dysentery. This Anti-Cholera Mixture is now in use in several of our army hospitals where it gives the greatest satisfaction. It has saved the lives of thousands of our soldiers and citizens, and we will guarantee it to be the best remedy in the world, and justify our reputation by a pronounced incurable by their physicians, some after taking only one bottle of Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture. If you suffer with Diarrhoea and Dysentery try one bottle.

SOLDIERS!
You ought not to be without such a valuable medicine. The Cincinnati National Union, of April 24th, says: that thousands of our soldiers have been saved by the use of Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
COMPOUND CEDRON BITTERS!
The Latest and Most Important Discovery of the Nineteenth Century.

NO MAN'S NAME IS MORE INTIMATELY connected with the history of the Materia Medica, or more favorably known as a pioneer in medical discovery, than that of JOHN BULL, of Louisville, Ky. His inimitable preparation of Sassaaparilla has long stood at the head of the various compounds of that valuable drug. His compound Tincture of Wild Cherry has become a household word throughout the West and South; and his Worm Lozenges, in less than a year after their introduction, attained a reputation as widespread as that of his other remedies. But the crowning glory of his life has been attained in his latest discovery, or rather combination, for he does not claim to have been the discoverer of CEDRON, which is the basis of the Bitters now offered to the public. That honor belongs to the native inhabitants of Central America, to whom its virtues have been known for more than two hundred years. Armed with it, the Indian has defiance to the most deadly malaria, and handles without fear the most venomous serpents. It is a belief with them that while there is breath left in the body the Cedron is potent to cure, no matter what the disease may be.

While Dr. Bull is not prepared to indorse this extravagant pretension, he is nevertheless satisfied from a thorough examination of the evidence relating to its virtues, that, as a remedy, it is preventive for all diseases arising from exposure either to changes of weather and climate or to the miasmatic influences, it stands without a rival, and justly deserves the reputation it has so long enjoyed in Central America and the West Indies. In

and its attendant train of symptoms, it acts more like a charm than a medicine. There is nothing in the whole range of the Materia Medica that can for a moment bear a comparison with it in this disease.

A full account of this wonderful plant may be found in the eleventh edition of the U. S. Dis-pensatory, pages 1857 and 1858.

A series of experiments, in which Dr. Bull has been for years engaged, has been brought to a successful termination, and he is now enabled to offer to the public a combination of Cedron with other improved tonics, the whole preserved in the best quality of copper-distilled Bourbon whisky, which he is confident has no equal in the world.

He might furnish a volume of certificates, but the public have long since learned to estimate such things at their true value. The safest plan is for every one to test for himself the virtues of a new medicine. Give the Cedron Bitters

one trial, and you will never use any others.
It is not necessary to publish a long list of diseases for which the Cedron Bitters are a specific.
In all diseases of the STOMACH, BOWELS, LIVER, or LIVER.

In all affections of the BRAIN depending upon derangement of the Stomach or Bowels; IN GOUT, RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA; AND IN FEVER AND AGUE;
It is destined to supersede all other remedies.
It not only cures all these diseases but it prevents exposure.
